

THE WHITMAN-HANSON PANTHERS

WRESTLING BANQUET

THURSDAY, MARCH 26, 1992
K OF C HALL

The Lament of a Wrestler's Mom

There's my son . . . so young and strong.
Surely doesn't seem so long
Since I rocked him in my arms,
So small and easily kept from harm.

Then one day he said, right out . . .
Wrestling's what it's all about!
I have to watch my weight.
All your goodies have to wait!

So, I thought . . . What can this be?
This wrestling that's replacing me.
Why, those wrestlers on TV,
They're as mean as they can be!

My poor son will be a wreck,
He'll hurt his knee or break his neck!
No! I thought . . . this mustn't be!
But did I say it? No . . . not me.

I fixed poached eggs and toast and meat,
and bit my lip when he'd retreat
From a table without a taste
Of that luscious cake, Dear! What a waste!

Then he'd come home with a long lean pole with weights at each end. For it's his goal to put on inches . . .
increase his strength
And as you know, I think it stretched his length.

How the house would shake and quake
With each deep breath and lift he'd make
But did I holler . . . "Save the house!"
No, not me. I was as quiet as a mouse . . .

And how about this mate of mine?
This wrestler's Dad . . . Was he inclined
To back me up and say, "Enough!
This wrestling business is too tough!"
Oh, my, no . . . He'd sit and grin,
Puff out his chest when he looked at him,
And say to me as his eyes filled,
"That kid of ours has quite a build!"

So you see, I lost the fight.
And felt quite badly, until that night.
That night, his first time on the team.
I couldn't help but sit and beam!
To see him stand, all dressed and ready.
I'll admit, I didn't feel too steady.
My hands were wet, my heart was beating
Oh, please, I prayed, let time be fleeting.

The other fellow looked so tall.
He should be playing basketball!
The referee his whistle blew.
I couldn't look for I just knew
That some great dread calamity
Would soon descend and pinned he'd be.

But say, what's this? They gave him two.
(What it was for, I never knew.)
But my, he did quite well.
In fact, quite great to hear Dad tell.

Oh, the tension and the straining!
All the blood from my head is draining.
Six minutes long I agonized,
And shook my head in sheer surprise
When they raised his hand . . . it's done . . . he's won!

HEY EVERYBODY . . . THAT'S MY SON!
